

Question 22

- Which of the following treatment options is best suited for patient presenting with Stage 3 acute limb ischemia (ALI)?
 - a. Primary amputation
 - b. Surgical revascularization
 - c. Endovascular revascularization with intra-arterial thrombolysis
 - d. Low-dose unfractionated heparin IV and optimal pain control

Question 22

- Which of the following treatment options is best suited for patient presenting with Stage 3 acute limb ischemia (ALI)?
 - a. Primary amputation
 - b. Surgical revascularization
 - c. Endovascular revascularization with intra-arterial thrombolysis
 - d. Low-dose unfractionated heparin IV and optimal pain control